Part II Activities and Operational Information

- 1 Provide a detailed narrative description of all the activities of the organization—past, present, and planned. Do not merely refer to or repeat the language in the organizational document. List each activity separately in the order of importance based on the relative time and other resources devoted to the activity. Indicate the percentage of time for each activity. Each description should include, as a minimum, the following: (a) a detailed description of the activity including its purpose and how each activity furthers your exempt purpose; (b) when the activity was or will be initiated; and (c) where and by whom the activity will be conducted.

Dallas Poets Community runs workshops, readings, craft sessions, contests and retreats for poets in the North Texas area.

Literary & Educational Workshops: DPC currently meets at least three times a month to work on individual poems written by participants. These meetings are open to the public and writers of all skill levels are invited to attend. Each person brings a new poem to the session. The poet reads their work and then absorbs the reactions of the group. This allows the poet to understand the impact that his or her work has on readers and helps them become better writers. This is an ongoing activity which is held in Dallas, Texas.

Literary Readings: DPC currently holds an Open Mic reading series at a local bookstore on the First Friday of every month. The readings generally draw a crowd of about 40-60 people to the store and provide a safe space for new writers and readers to hone their craft. This is an ongoing activity also held in Dallas, Texas.

Literary Contests: The DPC holds an annual poetry contest for the public. Members are not allowed to enter. Poets are encouraged to submit 3-10 poems. Prizes are awarded for the top six poems. The winners are announced at our August readings. Finalists are encouraged to attend and read their work. This is usually our largest event each year. This activity encourages writers to submit their work for publication which is often a scary event. It also allows the members of the DPC to be exposed to many different styles of writing. By reviewing all the submissions, members learn a lot about what does and does not work in writing. This is an ongoing activity which is held in Dallas, Texas.

Educational Retreats: We try to pull away once year and have a weekend-away workshop where new work is created and discussed. We often have members do short presentations on craft, specific poets they admire, or any other poetry-related subjects. The focus of the weekend away workshop is to generate new work and build stronger bonds in the group. This activity will restart in the fall of 2002 in the Dallas / Fort Worth area.

Literary Publications: The Dallas Poets Community runs a literary journal entitled Illya's Honey. The journal has a small but committed circulation and published poetry submitted from around the world. We get about 400-500 submissions per issue which are read and selected by DPC members. DPC members are not allowed to submit. Again, by reviewing all the submissions, members learn a lot about what does and does not work in writing. This is an ongoing publication which is run out of Dallas, Texas.
